

CREATIVE WATERCOLOR FOR BEGINNERS

with Cheryl McDonald

Painting in watercolor has been given the description of being the toughest medium to work with. Let me teach you how to be creative with watercolor. The class will start by getting familiar with the basics of watercolor. Learning to appreciate the spontaneity and transparency of watercolor and each week learn new techniques to develop your individual style of creating and painting. We will paint from still life setups and our imagination. No experience is necessary. A suggested materials list will be provided to those who sign up for the class.

Some of the techniques that will be explored include: how to paint in washes and glazes painting wet in wet and dry brush, mixing colors, tips on composition and style and mixed media possibilities
